Hoge marks 40 years at Loup

COLUMBUS, Neb. — Jim Hoge of Columbus was recently recognized for 40 years of service to Loup Power District.

Hoge began his career at Loup in 1982 as a part-time Draftsman in the Engineering Department at the Columbus General Office. He was promoted to full-time as a Drafting Technician in 1986 and he continues in that position today.

In this role, Hoge provides drafting support to all departments. He maintains District maps, including substation drawings, transmission line profile sheets, switching maps, and standards.

Hoge works closely with Nebraska Public Power District regarding joint-use drawings that are shared between the two utilities. He also works with the City of Columbus on updating District maps with city limit changes, subdivision additions and new address assignments.

A graduate of Columbus High School, Hoge attended Central Community College in Columbus. He and his wife, Sue, have twin girls — Jaime Sack and Nicole Liss. They also have two granddaughters.

ABOUT LOUP POWER DISTRICT: For more than 80 years, Loup Power District has provided reliable, low-cost electricity to customers in Boone, Colfax, Nance and Platte Counties and part of Madison County. The District also provides economic development and five parks in these areas. More information about Loup is available at www.loup.com.
